

MOUNTAINEER WORD PLAY

THE MAGICAL BOW TIE

Once upon a time there was a university president named E. Gordon Gee who wore a bow tie that was _____, _____ and covered in _____.

COLOR

ADJECTIVE PLURAL NOUN

Dr. Gee used his magical bow tie for the betterment of West Virginia University and _____.

NOUN

One _____ evening, a _____ emerged from the pits of _____ to unleash _____ on WVU and its people.

ADJECTIVE MYSTICAL CREATURE PLACE NOUN

Mountaineers were _____ but knew they had to come together to conquer the _____ and his diabolical crony _____.

ADJECTIVE MYSTICAL CREATURE CELEBRITY

A nation of resilient Mountaineers met at _____ to conjure up a game plan. Dr. Gee, the fearless leader, had a trick up his _____. He gave everyone their own magical _____, which held the same powers as his magical bow tie.

NAME OF A PLACE PART OF CLOTHING PIECE OF CLOTHING OR ACCESSORY

But maybe it was too late. The _____ had now invaded _____ and was breathing _____ at everything in sight, even destroying delicious pepperoni rolls!

MYSTICAL CREATURE PLACE ON CAMPUS NOUN

“There shall be no wasted pepperoni rolls!” the Mountaineers exclaimed as they hopped into their gold-and-blue _____ to encounter the beast.

NOUN

Upon seeing the legion of Mountaineers with their arsenal of _____, the villain backed away. But it was a ruse. The creature began to storm toward the crowd but Dr. Gee was too fast. He sprayed _____ from his bow tie.

PIECE OF CLOTHING OR ACCESSORY PLURAL NOUN

It knocked the villain on his _____!

BODY PART

Defeated and humbled, the monster, along with his sidekick _____, realized the error of their ways to never mess with Mountaineers. They apologized and offered a huge batch of pepperoni rolls smothered in _____ to the Mountaineers as everyone sang a _____ version of “Country Roads.”

LIQUID MUSIC GENRE